ECOMODA 100™

Indorama India, INVIYA® Spandex Business, has constantly endeavoured to move towards sustainability. In this direction, we are working towards products and processes that are better for the environment and help us meet global standards.

ECOMODA100™ uses state of the art technology and process knowhow developed through continuous R&D with the help of renowned process technologist and spandex polymer experts.

In an advent to channelize our efforts towards sustainable fashion we came up with the solution of recycling waste spandex and giving it new life. ECOMODA100™ matches the performance of regular spandex, INVIYA® Spandex.

We believe ECOMODA100™ is the need of the hour - a recycled spandex brand that shall appeal to the sustainability focus consumers, millennial and Gen Z. We created our recycled spandex to be easy on the environment and to spearhead the sustainability movement in the textile industry.

Made from 100% recycled pre-consumer spandex waste

Made for sustainability - conscious consumers

Can be paired with other sustainable fibers for creating sustainability-themed collections

Designed to be attuned to your body for the perfect fit, shape, and comfort
